One of the important teachers in the classroom is the English teacher; and in this position we have Mrs. Cornell, the Senior Sponsor.

On the lower floor we have Mrs. Green teaching the girls the fundamentals of home making. She is a very likeable person and has a kind word for everyone.

In the midst we have our Social Science teacher, Miss Crafts. In these times of political history making the students are not too oblivious to current problems.

Under the able direction of our musical instructor, Mr. Kingsbury, the music department has advanced during the year, as was shown by the successful programs that were presented.

Mathematics also play an important roll in our school, under the able leadership of Mrs. Russell, the students are learning their P's and Q's of Mathematics.

Mr. Heckman's primary interest is Science. Anyone with a problem pertaining to Science may go to him for enlightenment on the subject.

Among the hum of the saws we see Mr. Madaras lending a helping hand to our future constructors. He also does a fine job of coaching the boys.

Now, last but not least of our high school teachers, we have Miss Harrison, our Commercial teacher. Her likeable disposition and quiet ways make her a friend of everyone.

Mrs. Margaret Bailey teaches the first grade. She was born in Dunbridge, Ohio. Attended Ohio University, Athens, Ohio.

Mrs. Jane Bruning is in charge of the second grade. She was born in Malta, Ohio. She attended Ohio State University.

Mrs. Clara Jacobs takes care of the third grade. She was born in Arlington, Ohio. She graduated from Bowling Green State University.

Miss Virginia Crockett teaches the fourth grade. She comes from Bowling Green. She received a B. S. Degree in Education from Bowling Green State University.

Miss Grace Fahle is a familiar figure in the fifth grade. She was born in Luckey, Ohio. She attended Bowling Green State University.

Miss Marie Bruning is a well known figure in the sixth grade. She was born in Portage Center, Ohio. She received a B. S. Degree in Education from Bowling Green State University.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September of 1944 our class of twenty-nine students began our "High School Days," hoping to acquire knowledge that would be a benefit to us in years to come years to come.

We started our Freshman year with Mr. Heckman as our class sponsor. We received four new pupils: Romayne Abke, Desta Dierksheide, Norma Ernsthausen and Kenneth Sieving from New Rochester.

We chose as our class officers:

President --- Marian Cochran
Vice President --- Norma Ernsthausen
Secretary --- Ellen Wegman
Treasurer --- JoAnn Gockerman
Reporter ---Lois Wigman

During the year we had a skating party at Perrysburg., also a party at the school.

Summer passed quickly and we were once more back in school with twenty-seven pupils to start the Sophomore year with Mrs. Cornell as our sponsor. Howard Nollenberger joined us in January.

We chose the following as our class officers:

President --- Kenneth Sieving
Vice President --- Robert Kohring
Secretary --- Ellen Wegman
Treasurer --- Margaret Henline
Reporter --- Norma Ernsthausen

We were proud of our Sophomore boys when they won the interclass tournament, and a party was given for them by the girls. Several of our fellows were on the reserve basketball team.

The big event of the year was selecting our class rings. We were very proud to wear them when we received them at the end of the year.

Fall came around again, this time we were entering school as Juniors. We numbered twenty-seven when we added Francis Venis as a new member. During the year we lost one pupil, Beulah Baker. We were again sponsored by Mrs. Cornell.

We elected the following officers:

President --- JoAnn Gockerman
Vice President --- Howard Nollenberger
Secretary --- Norma Ernsthausen
Treasurer --- Scott Muir
Reporter --- Hilda Wentland

A big event for us was our class play, entitled "Listen to Lester," given November 8, 1946, under the direction of Mrs. Cornell.

During the year we sponsored a high school dance. We also had charge of cooking and serving the Elevator Banquet. These were ways of earning money for the trip we were planning to take at the end of our Senior year.

Of course the biggest event of all and the long awaited for event was the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 9th. Much time was spent in preparation. The theme was a garden scene. Punch was served in a wishing well in a corner of the auditorium, with wishing wells in the middle of each table.

The orchestra was placed under a summer house with roses twined around it. The food was good and everyone had an enjoyable time.

September 1947 --- the year which we had waited so patiently for came at last. We were Seniors, all twenty-six of us..

Mrs. Cornell was our sponsor again. We chose the following officers:

President --- Scott Muir
Vice President --- Hilda Wentland
Secretary --- Gene Kohring

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY---(Continued)

Treasurer --- Kenneth Sieving
Reporter --- Lois Wigman

The first event of the year was the photographing of our class at the Dicken's Studio in Fostoria on O tober two.

Again several of our boys were on the basketball teams.

Magazine sale, banquets and a play increased our treasury.

We chose as our class motto "Success Awaits at Labor's Gate." Our class colors were red and white.

On April 30, we gave our play under the direction of Miss Crafts. Then came the Junior-Senior Banquet on May 7, an event that will linger in our memories.

The Baccalaureate Service was held on May 16.

May 21 was Commencement. Mr. Fred Klag gave an interesting talk.

To all our teachers, and especially to Mrs. Cornell, we offer our thanks for their patience, advice and guidance.

Now that the year has drawn to a close, we shall never forget the four years we spent together. We have shared happiness and disappointments but our high school days will ever linger in our memories.

CLASS PROPHECY

As the winds move the clouds across the sky---so time flies from our high school days till our careers in 1955.

Place: New York

HILDA: Hello, operator, will you please connect me with Miss Jo Ann Gockerman in suite No. 7 at the Waldorf Astoria?

Jo Ann: Hello.

Hilda: Is this Jo Ann Gockerman? Try and guess who this is.

Jo Ann: Why, your voice sounds very familiar. Is it Hilda?

Hilda: Well, how did you ever remember after all these years?

Jo Ann: What are you doing in New York? Where are you now?

Hilda: I'm trying to locate a suitable hotel reservation, but as yet no luck. I suddenly remembered about your staying at the hotel here so I decided to call you up; right now I'm at Grand Central Station.

Jo Ann: Why not come over and let's talk over our wonderful times back in Pemberville, and then go out to dinner?

Hilda: That's a wonderful idea. I'll get a taxi and I'll see you in a little while.

Jo Ann: Don't be too long. I'm dying to see you. Bye!

Hilda arrives at the Waldorf.

Jo Ann: This is wonderful, you're being here in New York.

Hilda: Yes, my boss is here on an important business conference which starts tomorrow, and since I'm his private secretary, I came along. By the way, are you still interested in plastic surgery?

Jo Ann: Yes, my interest was even more aroused since I'm a receptionist for the city's most famous plastic surgeon. Guess where we're dining this evening? Remember that good-looking boy with the red hair? I'm speaking about Red Beeker. Well, anyhow, he's really up in the world. He owns and operates a swank dining hall called the "High Hat" right here in Manhattan. We'll probably see him this evening. What ever happened to that devoted couple Scott and Norma?

Hilda: Oh, didn't you hear? They had a lovely June wedding several years ago and are living on a farm near Pemberville. They have a darling little girl.

Jo Ann: I'll bet you don't know what has become of Howard Nollenberger. He is starring at the Latin Quarters with his own jazz orchestra. He can still blow those mellow notes on his trumpet. Sounds quite different than when he played in the P. H. S. Band, I'll tell you.

Hilda: Speaking of music, have you seen or heard Betty Konzen down at Carnegie Hall? She plays over the radio every Sunday in their famous concerts. Local gossips back home say she and the conductor are sniffing orange blossoms.

Jo Ann: I certainly hope that you and I can go see her this Sunday. That is, if you're still in town.

Hilda: I hear Gene Kohring has really made use of his photography. Did you know he's taking pictures for M. G. M. out in Hollywood?

Jo Ann: That's really wonderful but let me tell you one. Did you know that I got a lovely letter from Lois Ann and guess what? Jim and Lois Ann have moved out to Nebraska where they live on a large wheat farm. You knew of course, they have twins, a boy and girl.

Hilda: Speaking about married people. Frances and Bob are also married. Bob now is the manager of his father's elevator.

Jo Ann: You remember what a fine cook Desta was? Well, she is now managing the dining room of a famous resort hotel in Maine. Her high school friend, Romayne, is still with her. She is filling the capacity of assistant manager.

Hilda: Ted and Earl Wegman have enlarged their father's business of fruit farming. I have heard that they ship the products into some of the larger cities.

Jo Ann: Here it is almost 6:00. Let's hurry and go to the restaurant and eat and see Red.

Hilda: All right let's go!

At the "High Hat"

Jo Ann: Look there's Red talking to some prominent New Yorkers. He sees us now and here he comes!

Red: Well for Pete's sake, Hello!

Hilda: Hello Red! My what a lovely restaurant!

Jo Ann: Hilda is here on business so she stopped in to see me. We've been talking about our old classmates.

Red: Speaking of classmates, Bob and George Alexander were in for lunch this noon. You new of course they are both working in a science research lab here in the city. kYou know I've lost count of some of the kids. What ever happened to Kate and Ellen?

Hilda: Ellen is a graduate nurse in one of the Toledo hospitals. When I saw her last she was on private duty.

Jo Ann: Well, Kate's right here in New York. She is the Junior manager of the exclusive Andre Shoppe on Fifth Avenue. She is engaged to the gentleman hair stylist.

Red: Have you gals heard what the editor of the Pemberette is doing? She's the Dean of Women at U. C. L. A. She really got places in a hurry. What's become of studious Lois Wegman?

Hilda: She is at Columbus holding the position of lab technician.

Red: Well, you knew that Kenny is an engineer on a government project out in the West. He's married and has one child, Kenny Junior.

Hilda: Isn't that nice! Remember how Helen used to hit those baseballs and make those baskets? She is a physical education director at a private girls' school.

Jo Ann: And, of all to almost forget, Margaret! She has a very good typing job on the Toledo Blade Staff. She was head typist on the school paper back in '48.

Hilda: Oh, by the way where is Donald?

Red: I just got a postal card from him and it was posted from New Mexico. He travels to out-of-the-way places and writes about them, for books, newspapers and magazines.

Jo Ann: Our class really did all right for themselves. You'd never think it would when I recall the silly pranks at school.

Hilda: I'll say not and I've got to go back to the hotel and unpack.

Red: Well I think we all enjoyed hearing about our classmates. So Long.

Jo Ann: Come on Hilda.
Hilda: So long, and we'll see you again. Goodbye.

At the opening of the play the affairs of the Beverly household have reached a critical stage. Mr. Beverly, a man of large affairs in New York City, is surrounded by two extravagant, luxury loving daughters, a reckless, spendthrift son and a wife who, improvident herself, has spoiled her children from the time they were born.

The Beverly family has been spending money faster than the head of the house can earn it. Beverly is beset with creditors who even follow him out to his sumptuous Long Island home and threaten proceedings. He tries to make his family see the necessity of economy and warns them of the inevitable crash impending. Instead of heeding him however, his warning is greeted with sneers andcriticism and they decide that he is an old "grouch."

Into this clouded atmosphere of selfishness, deceit and false show comes Polly Perkins, Mr. Beverly's ward and a modest heiress. The Beverly mode of living on Long Island is in decided contrast to the simple New England village life to which she has been accustomed and for a moment she loses her bearings. But her heart and understanding are as big as all out of doors and her eternal optimism and good will soon assert themselves. She brings with her the freedom and fragrance of the New England Berkshires, and instead of adapting herself to her new surroundings, she sets out to make them conform to her own standards of simplicity and happiness. Her very presence clarifies the atmosphere.

Not content with reforming the Beverly household, she goes into the poor districts of the village and even there her winning personality works miracles. Through her kindness of heart two ragged, unwashed children are introduced into high society, causing joy, consternation and condemnation among the various members of the "400."

Beverly returns from tse city a ruined man and his family faces the prospect of moving into a Harlem flat, which to their way of thinking is worse than death. At this juncture Polly comes to the rescue and with sublime faithfulness places her legacy, which represents every penny she has in the world, into the hands of her guardian to help him stem the tide.

In the meantime Beverly's son Baldwin, who makes love to every pretty face he meets, has fallen desperately in love with Polly. It proves the making of him. He actually goes to work for the first time in his life.

Through Polly's influence we see the better instincts of thes Beverly family and their friend come to the surface. They realize that money is not everything, that social position and false friends do not constitute happiness and that Polly Perkins is a wonderful little person. Her guardian is saved from ruin and she finds her own happiness in the good she has wrought and the true love of Baldwin Beverly.

JUNIOR CLASS ACTIVITIES

We started the year with 33 pupils, with Mrs. Russell as sponsor. We elected officers at the beginning of the year and have the following results:

President ..... Daniel Sander
Vice President ..... Heber Howard
Secretary ..... Duane Patterson
Reporter ..... Joyce Ballard

An exciting event of the year was the production of the Junior Play: "Wanted A Hero."

We had the privilege of serving two banquets this year. We served for the Life Time Stoker Plant, and the Pemberville Canning Company.

Our class sponsored the Christmas Chapel Program.

SYNOPSIS

Barbara Young, an attractive girl from the east, goes to visit her cousin, Sally Dudley, who lives on a ranch in the west. While she is there she falls in love with a young man from the east (Bertram Weeks) who is staying at the Dudley's ranch gathering material for a book. Bertram is a very timid person. Barbara knows, however, that her dad would like her to marry some big, handsome he-man. So, when she writes to get her father's consent to marry Bertram, she puts in some things to make her father think Bertram is the type of man he wants hr to marry.

Herfather,however instead of wiring his consent, as she thought he would, decides to come and meet Bertram. When Sally and Barbara find this out they think up a scheme by which they hope to make Bertram appear to be all the things she said he was. Their scheme is upset by Sam Banks, a ranch hand who is in love with Barbara. Another incident arises however which gives Bertram a chance to prove himseif. He then becomes a hero and Barbara's father gives his cinsent to their marriage.

Our Sophomore year began September 2, 1947 with 21 pupils and Miss Harrison as our sponsor. sor. We neither lose nor gained any pupils from last year. A week after school started we elected our class officers as follows:

President ..... Robert Bruning	Treasurer ..... Dolores Avers
Vice President ..... Donna Schroeder	Reporter ..... Patricia Clay
Secretary ..... Carolyn Rahe	Athletic Asso. Rep. ..... Dale Dierksheide

On September 18 we left for Toledo to visit the Art Museum and Cathedral. Miss Crafts went along and the day was very much enjoyed and itwas educational for all who went.

November 6, the day that had long been awaited, had finally arrived and we received our class rings.

Our first class party of the season was held on December 16. We had a sleigh ride which was very much enjoyed by all in spite of the bitter cold. We left on Gerwin's sleigh and rode around about two hours after which we returned to find that hot cocoa and pop corn were waiting for us.

GRADE NEWS

The first grade this year filled Easter baskets for the children's home in Bowling Green.

A choir and rhythm band were again organized this year in the first and second grades. They were active both at the Christmas and Easter Programs.

The most interesting project the third graders completed this year, was the making of hand-puppets and then giving puppet shows to the first and second graders.

For the P. T. A. Christmas Program the third graders favored the audience with some selections from their " Kitchen Rhythm Orchestra."

Our sweetwind ensemble from the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades appeared twice this year. We played three numbers on the Christmas program and at our last P. T. A. program we delighted the audience by playing three part music.

Mrs. Ward, our bird woman, organized our two Junior Audubon Clubs again this year. Pemberville School has one of the largest Audubon Clubs in the state of Ohio. We are grateful to Mrs. Ward for her splendid work and interest.

All six grades are members of the Junior Red Cross. Many gift boxes were sent overseas at Christmas time.

Earning money to pay for our play-ground equipment has been a project this year. We have collected sales-tax stamps, sold home-made candy and tickets for the American Legion. With everyone working we have over one hundred dollars.

Each child in the grades responded to the Easter Seal sale by purchasing a ten-cent package, thus helping the Crippled Children.

Each Tuesday afternoon the grades enjoyed listening to Mrs. Evelyn Summer's program from the Toledo Art Museum called "Making Friends With Music."

A Commercial Club was started this year by the second year typists and then extended to all commercial students. It was a new venture in this school and hopes for its future are high.

A constitution has been written and adopted in which are stated our aims and rules.

At our first meeting we elected officers. They are as follows.

President --- Hilda Wentland

Secretary --- Katherine Ernsthausen

Treasurer --- Helen Hiser

Our meetings are held at member's homes on the third Wednesday of each month.

Initiations highlighted our first meetings.

With Mr. Heckman as our advisor, we began our Science Club for the year by the election of the yearly officers and choosing a name for our club. The officers are as follows:

President --- George Alexander

Vice President --- Daniel Sander

Secretary - Treasurer --- Scott McCreary

After several names were suggested, Test Tube (S) Tinkers was chosen.

The Physics and Chemistry classes alternated in taking charge of the meetings. Some of the subjects discussed were photography, radio, and the ammonia cooling system of refrigerators.

"The Explorer" had its beginning the early part of the 1947 school year when the second year typing class decided to originate a school paper. After much discussion as to what name would be appropriate, we decided to call it "The Explorer." The Senior girls were enthusiastic concerning this undertaking and worked diligently at making it a paper of which we could be proud. Several copies have been sent to surrounding schools and have been commended highly. We are hoping that in a few years of development it will have a larger content and be recognized as still a fine paper.

BAND

The Band has shown much progress under the efficient direction of Mr. Kingsbury. It has participated in several programs throughout the year and has also favored Its audience with some snappy marches at the basketball games which were played at home.

There is a membership of thirty-five, and although only a young band, it has achieved an excellent reputation from surrounding towns.

During the summer of 1947, the Band gave concerts every Saturday evening on the bandstand on Front Street. The concerts were made possible by the Civic Club and were well attended by the local citizens.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

An A Capella Choir has taken form in our school and with the co-operation of the students, there is a membership of sixty-eight voices, of which we are very proud.

They rendered several selections in a Christmas program sponsored by the P. T. A. At this program they wore black choir robes with their white collars, which was very impressive and was conducted in a reverent fashion. They also took part in the spring music festival, which was a great success.

Most of the songs practiced by this group are along religious lines. Some of them are "The Twenty-Third Psalm," "God is a Spirit," and "Hear My Prayer, O God." These renditions are received with great enthusiasm by the audience.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club is a musical organization consisting of forty-five members. It has taken part in the musical programs that have occurred during the year, some of which were the spring music festival and the Christmas program.

The girls enjoy meeting together twice a week to produce the harmony for which they are striving.

Most of the music practiced by this group is gay and melodious. They are singing such songs as: "I Passed By Your Window," "Sing Again," "Marcheta," and "The Green Cathedral."

ORCHESTRA

This year Mr. Kingsbury has organized an orchestra consisting mostly of junior high students. This is the smallest musical organization but it has a membership of thirty, which we consider a good beginning.

Starting with a group of violin beginners and the Junior Band group combined, Mr. Kingsbury hopes to have a very good orchestra in another year. Since this organization is new and undeveloped it has not had an opportunity to show its true worth. However, the group made its first public appearance in the May Festival program and performed very creditably.

JOKES?????

Miss Harrison: (to Bob Kohring) Why did you spell pneumatic 'n-e-w-m-a-t-i-c'?
Bob Kohring: The "k" on my typewriter isn't working.

Luther Aring: I had a funny dream last night, and I chewed the insides out of the pillow.
Victor: Do you feel sick today?
Luther: No! Just a little down in the mouth.

Last summer when Donald Oberhouse took his usual trip to California, he stopped right in the middle of the "Great Desert" and, with a swimming suit on was playing in the sand when another traveler came along.

Traveler: Where on earth are you going?
Don: Swimming.
Traveler: But you're a hundred miles from the ocean.
Don: Yeah, wide beach isn't it?

A big burly truck driver leaned out of his cab and yelled a few harsh words at Heber Howard who had stalled his car on a busy highway. Donna, who was with Heber, got quite upset.

Donna: Surely you're going to say something to that man?
Heber: I sure am. Just wait until I get this car started.

Lois Wigman: Doctor, I am afraid I'm goig to die.
Doctor: Nonsense, that's the last thing you'll do.

If you would have gone to school back in 1924 you would have gotten quite a kick out of a poem called "For Sale." We got most of the dust off of the 1929 annual and found that old poem; here it is:

"FOR SALE"

One Ford car with piston rings
Two rear wheels and one front spring,
Has no fenders, seat or tank,
Burns lots of gas and is hard to crank.

Carburetor busted half way through,
Engine missing---hits on two;
Three years old, four in the spring,
Has shock absorbers 'neverything.

Radiator busted---sure does leak,
Differential dry---you can hear it squeak;
Ten spokes missing, front all bent,
Top blown off(ain't worth a cent.

Got lots of speed, runs like the deuce,
Burns either gas or tobacco juice;
Tires all off, been run on the rim, BUT
She's a darn good Liz for the shape she's in.

Scott McCreary: I had a queer dream last night. I thought I saw another man running off with you.
Jewell Lawson: And then what did you do?
Scott McCreary: I asked him why he was running.

A poem dedicated to all Chemistry Students:

A green little Chemist, In a green little way,
Was fooling with chemicals One bright summer's day.
Now the green little grasses tenderly wave
O'er that green little Chemist's green little grave.

Miss Crafts: (pointing to a map) Now Dick, when you face north, on your left hand you have the great continent of Asia. What do you have on your right hand?
Dick Beeker: A wart, but I can't help it.

Vernon Hiser: You are the sunshine of my life, you alone reign in my heart. Without you life is but a dreary cloud---etc.
Carolyn Rahe: What is that, a proposal or a weather report?

David A. My father is an Eagle, an Elk, A Moose, and a Lion.
Victor S. How much does it cost to see him?

George Alexander and John Dierksen were hunting when George shouted:

Hey!! John are you all right?
Yeah!!
Then I've just shot a rabbit.
